Acknowledgments

The research on which this study was based received financial support from three sources: a Ministry of Education State Studentship, and grants from the Central Research Fund Committee of the University of London and from the Wenner-Gren foundation. I wish to thank all these bodies.

I also wish to thank Paul Stirling and the late Lucy Mair who gave unstintingly of their time and advice during the preparation of the original thesis from which this study derives.

My main debt is to the inhabitants of Pertosa. In particular, I wish to single out Dr. Michele Damiano and his family for their constant hospitality, friendship and support. I also wish to thank Dr. Francesco Cifuni and Mario and Michelina Simone for their help in different stages of the research.

Part of chapter 5 was first published as 'Social mobility and social control in a South Italian village' in Bailey, F.G., Gifts and Poison, 1971.
